PIEDMONT HIGH SCHOOL

VOL. 19

JUNE 1941

FOREWORD

In the pages of this book, we of the 1941 annual staff have tried to show, along with current activities, some of our earlier history and traditions. For twenty years the history of Piedmont High School has unfolded; during this time growth and development in all things, physical, mental, and spiritual, have been the goal of the Highlanders. We have come now to a place where it may be well to turn and look at the road over which our predecessors traveled.

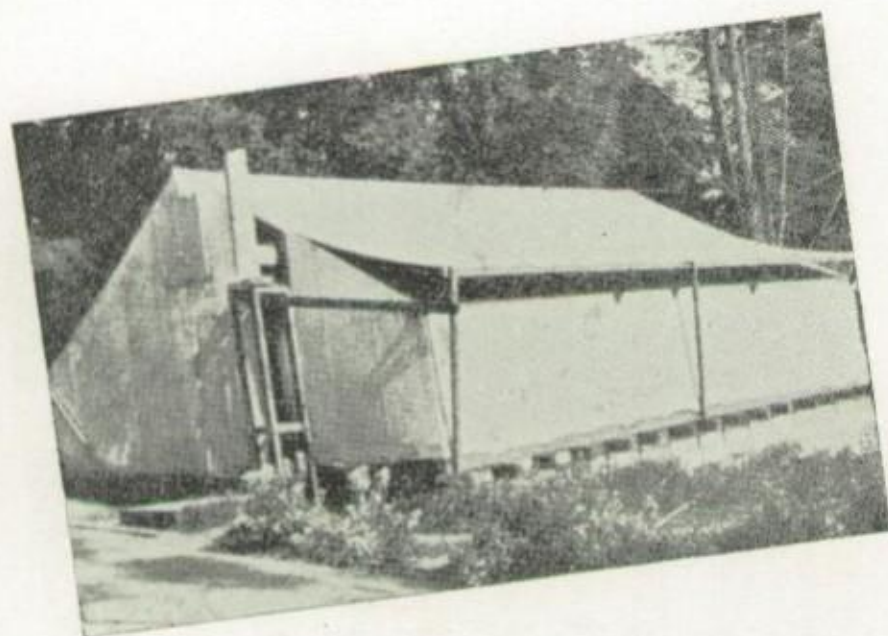

In the story of our school there are five dates of signal importance:

- 1921—Founding of the Senior High School
- 1922—Construction of the Senior High Building
- 1924—Construction of the Junior High Building
- 1935—Addition of Quad and Rally Court
- 1938—Addition of the New Library

When founded, Piedmont High School was composed of many groups from different schools. The first few years were times of real struggle; molding the various factions into a united student body was no simple task. True pioneers were our superintendent, Mr. Jones, and the members of the early faculty and school board. They were fighting on a real frontier. It was their vision and hard work that made success possible. It is this same interest on the part of our administrators that today sets our high standards and helps us to achieve our ideals. Housed in an abandoned casino and in other nondescript buildings, the faltering young school looked toward a seemingly doubtful future. Could such an infant organization hope ever to win a place among strong and well-established competitors? Yet, looking about us, we see that we now have won a place of distinction among the schools of this area.

Showing the energy and determination that have since become characteristic of the Clan, the student body began governmental organization. A president and a board of control were chosen, and a constitution was drafted. The heraldry of the school was originated; our Scotch theme, our colors of purple and white, our motto, "Achieve the Honorable," our school shield—all were some of the decisions of the time.

But these were not the only great steps taken at the time. Clubs, publications, and other activities were instituted. The Highlander weekly was organized; volume one of the new annual replaced the mimeographed copy of the previous year. Intra-mural strife was narrowly averted in the discussion as to whether to name the book the "Clan-O-Log" or "The Purple Heather." We have often since been glad that "Clan-O-Log" was chosen as the name for our yearbook. How many of you remember that for eight years the school published a literary magazine, "The Highland Piper"? Hoan, Block P, Alpha Clan, the Boys' Council, the G.A.A., the Kiltie Band, and other developments too numerous to mention were the signs of growth which appeared one by one in the succeeding years. Piedmont was on the move.

One of the most important events in our history as a school was the enlarging of our athletic facilities in 1928, through a bond election. Prior to that time trackmen journeyed to the "Cal" oval for daily practice, and football players competed on an alternately muddy and rock-like field of clay. Among the greatest dates in our history was the day when the new track, gridiron, field house, and grand-stand were completed and made available for the students of Piedmont.

Important in our plan of presentation this year are the shields, thistles, and other art work which have been prepared by our skilled and ingenious art department. Each of the engravings on the division pages of this book represents a chapter in school life, one of the salient dates in school history, and one of the five shields which are outstanding at Piedmont. Here and there, adding interest and historic atmosphere, are a few scenes from the past. Let these photographs by their presence emphasize the contrast between the school life of yesterday and today. Compare the science shack shown on this page with the modern laboratories of our school at the present time.

However much we may wish to review the past, our primary interest is in this year's happenings. In presenting this record, we have also followed what we believe to be the wishes of the students in that we have increased the proportional area occupied by photographs. As material for these pictures we have chosen fewer snaps, but snaps of better photographic quality and subject matter, and have reproduced them in "no-squint" sizes. Turn now to the senior pages and see the informal sidelights on the graduates that are beside the individual portraits. The reader will also notice that the views are larger and clearer than ever before. Mentioned in this article are only a few of the features of which we are sure that the students will heartily approve.

In reviewing the past and recording the present, let us also look ahead to what the next twenty years may bring. We can see a dynamic, persevering Piedmont, always striving to "Achieve the Honorable." We can easily visualize an institution, ever increasing in greatness and building itself on the traditions of the past and the achievements of today.—Joe Woods, Editor.

ADMINISTRATION

Since the humble beginnings of our school in the old shacks and tents, our administrators have striven to help the students of Piedmont to attain the goal of all Clansmen—our motto, as recorded in our school shield, "Achieve the Honorable." To these men and women should go a large share of the credit for the excellence of the Piedmont of today.

TWENTY YEARS OF ADMINISTRATION

The chronology of Piedmont High School for the twenty years of its existence, while harmonious with the theme of this year book, is too vast in the scope of its achievement to cover more than the simplest outline.

From the standpoint of housing equipment, these years have seen a school started in shacks and tents; the completion of a main high school building; the later construction of a junior high school building; following this with the erection of a field house and the provision of an athletic field; and after a period of the use of shacks, the construction of the quad building with its attractive court; and, finally, the addition of our beautiful new high school library.

Of more importance than buildings to an institution is the faculty. During these years, by careful selection from thousands of candidates and a search covering the United States from coast to coast, the present corps of instructors has been assembled to form what is probably the outstanding high school faculty in the west.

The student body, however, is not only the end and purpose of the school, but actually the most important part of any educational institution. It is in the response of the student body to the appeal of the ideals of the school and the standards which the faculty have set up for their accomplishment that Piedmont High School has shown outstanding growth and thereby achieved its present high standards. Evidence of these achievements is shown in the unusually large percentage of graduates of the Clan School who attend higher institutions of learning, and in the outstanding records they make in these institutions and later in life.

For all of these achievements on which we look with so much pride, we must turn to that splendid and outstanding corps of Piedmont citizens who have served as members of the Piedmont Board of Education through these twenty years, in recognition of their splendid service which has enabled the citizens of Piedmont to provide for their children the outstanding schools which have been developed.

To you students who come into Piedmont High School in its present stage of development to take advantage of the opportunities and privileges it offers, the achievements of the past should be accepted only with a sense of responsibility to make for yourselves, personally, the most from the opportunities offered; and in your turn you should exert every power to advance the ideals and standards of our Clan

School to a still higher level for those coming after you to achieve.

This outstanding year book produced by the staff of 1941 presents not only a splendid pictorial record of the activities of the Clan School, but in addition is an inspiration to all students who read these pages to participate in the future development of still higher standards and thereby to "Achieve the Honorable."

CLASSES

Closely connected with the main building, the original unit in our school group, is the Honor Society of the upper classmen. The credo of Alpha Clan embodies the ideals of all who pass through these halls—alumni, seniors, and lower classmen. Through requirements of this society, the Scots are influenced to greater achievements in Scholarship, Citizenship, Athletics, and the Arts.

ACTIVITIES

In the junior high school building, the next addition to our plant, the younger students have developed the Beta Scot Honor Society, which is significant for its far-reaching influence. It is in these early years of Piedmont life that ambitions, as well as interest in the various activities, begin to develop.

ATHLETICS

The Quad and Rally Court, since its completion five years ago, has been almost inseparable from athletics. In this court, spirit is stimulated for the individual contests. Likewise, the freshman and sophomore years, the period of membership in Gamma Gael, are instrumental in engendering athletic aims in the hearts of the Caledonians.

Football Season

Making touchdowns on both kick-offs, the Highlanders swept away the Jefferson eleven to begin a most successful season. This contest was followed by signal victories over Concord, Palo Alto, and Alameda.

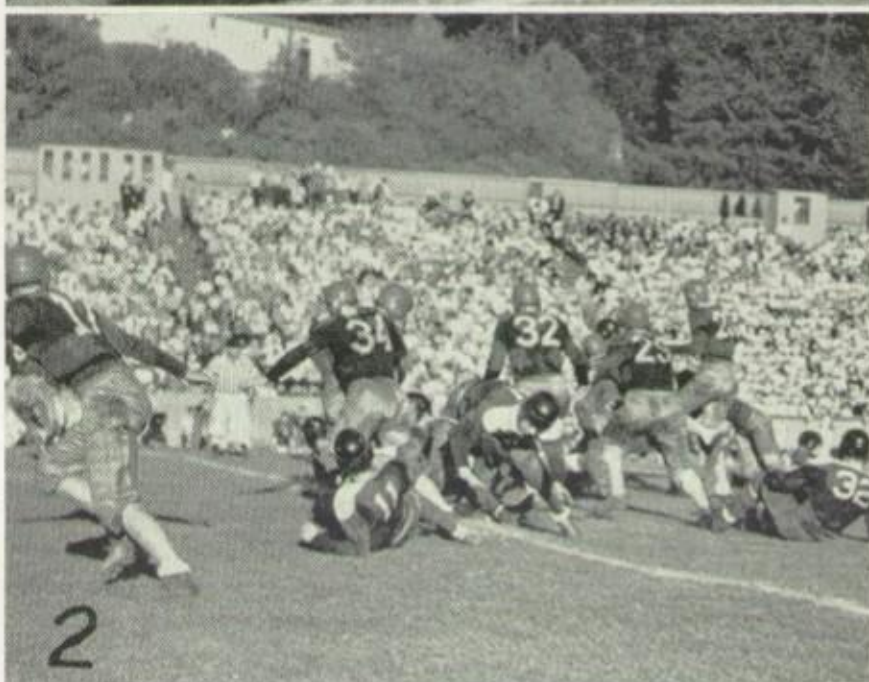

After having been stopped several times down in Oiler territory, the Clan scored in the last seconds of play to win 6-0. Statistics, moreover, gave a decided advantage to the Caledonians in yards gained from scrimmage, Piedmont netting 183 yards, Richmond losing six.

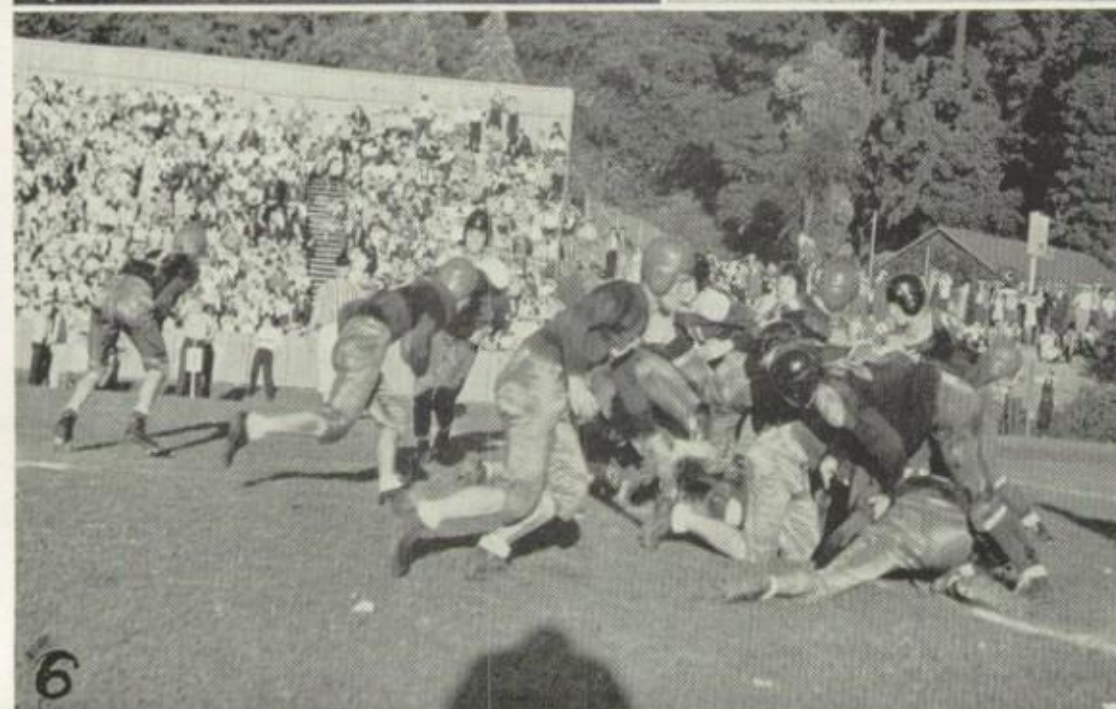

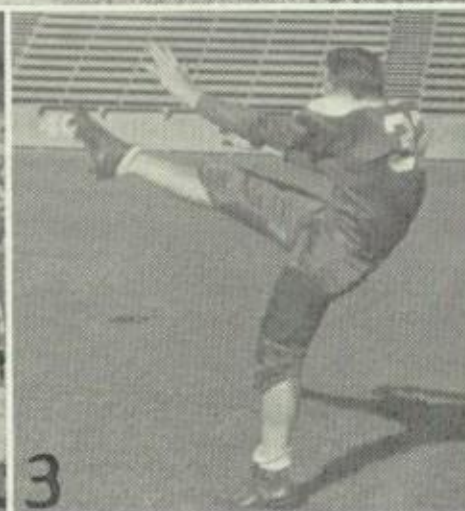

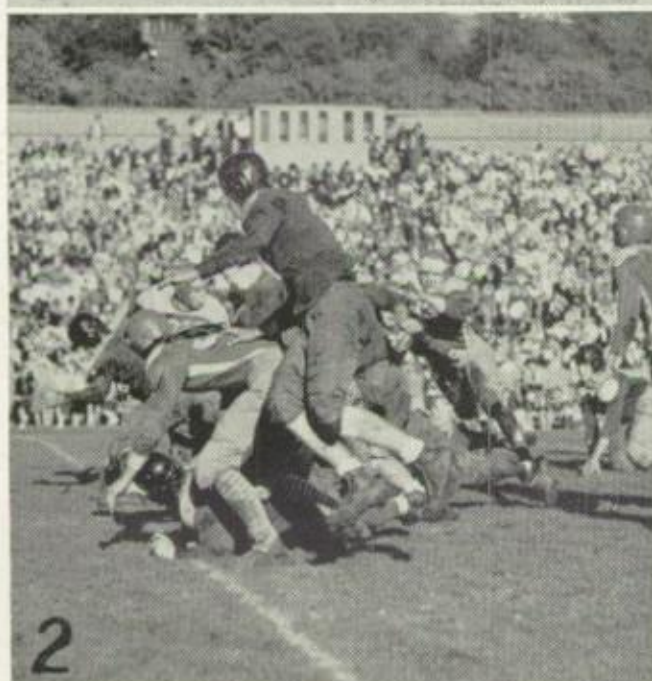

A week later in a tussle high-lighted by Bob Kurkjian's pass interception and sixty-yard run, the Scots set a new Piedmont-Berkeley scoring record by defeating the Jackets 46 to 0. Two weeks later, after having beaten Albany, the Clansmen traveled to Hayward to defeat the farmers by a score of 47-0.

Finishing its season undefeated and untied, with ten of its players on the All-County squad, and having scored 274 points to their opponents 6, the 1940 Purple Tornado indeed established itself as the greatest team in A.C.A.L. history.

Snapshots from the Piedmont-Richmond Game

BASKETBALL

Varsity Basketball Season

After a somewhat unsuccessful practice season, Piedmont's inexperienced basketball team started out its league season by losing to Hayward by four points. Even though our team lost, we showed that we had at last begun to find ourselves. The Highlanders finally won their first game the following week, defeating Albany by a large score. The team hit their peak the following week by upsetting their "big game" rival, Berkeley, in the most exciting game of the season. Two close games were then lost to Richmond and Alameda; thus the first round ended. In the second round, our Varsity won two games and lost three.

Lightweight Season

With only one lettermen returning from last year, Piedmont's Lightweight team had a successful practice season, improving game by game. The team opened the league season by traveling to Hayward and winning by one point. This very exciting game showed that Piedmont was the "team to beat" in the A.C.A.L. The next week, the Scots showed much the superior ability and easily defeated Albany. Their next game against Berkeley was the most thrilling encounter of the season. When the game ended, Berkeley was ahead by two points, only to lose by a forfeit because of an illegal player on their team.

The next week, Piedmont traveled to Richmond and won the game by four decisive points. The first round of the league ended the next week when the Highlanders defeated Alameda. In the second round, Piedmont again defeated Hayward and Albany in succession. Just as the championship seemed to be in the hands of our boys, Piedmont lost two games, one to Berkeley and the other to Richmond. The Clan ended the season by winning from Alameda. This victory gave the Highlanders a well-earned tie with Richmond for the A.C.A.L. Championship.

Junior Varsity

The Junior Varsity team, formed a year ago, had a very successful season this year. The team is composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores, and its purpose is to develop future varsity material. This year the team played a ten-game schedule. They won six games and lost four. The Junior Varsity's defeats were at the hands of De Molay; Piedmont's lightweight team; Oakland Y.M.C.A.; California 130's. Their six games were won from the "Linda Lillies," a team composed of former Piedmont players: De Molay; "Brick" Johnson's Sunday school class; the Pi Alpha Club; St. Leo's church; and Piedmont's lightweight team.

TRACK

THE TRACK SEASON

By defeating Balboa decisively in the first meet of the season, Piedmont served warning to the other league schools that she was to be a top contender for the A.C.A.L. crown.

Returning to full strength for the Berkeley meet, Piedmont defeated her traditional rival in a dual meet for the first time within sixteen years. Outstanding was Irving Moore, who vaulted 13'3 1/4" for a new track record.

Coach Brick Johnson sent a team of three boys to the Davis Relays. Moore broke the Davis record with a vault of 13 feet 1 1/2 inches. Stan Johnson placed second in the mile, and Jim Anderson did the same in the 880.

By winning five first places and by setting records in the pole vault aggregate and two-mile relay, Piedmont almost doubled the number of points made by her nearest competitor in the Martinez Relays.

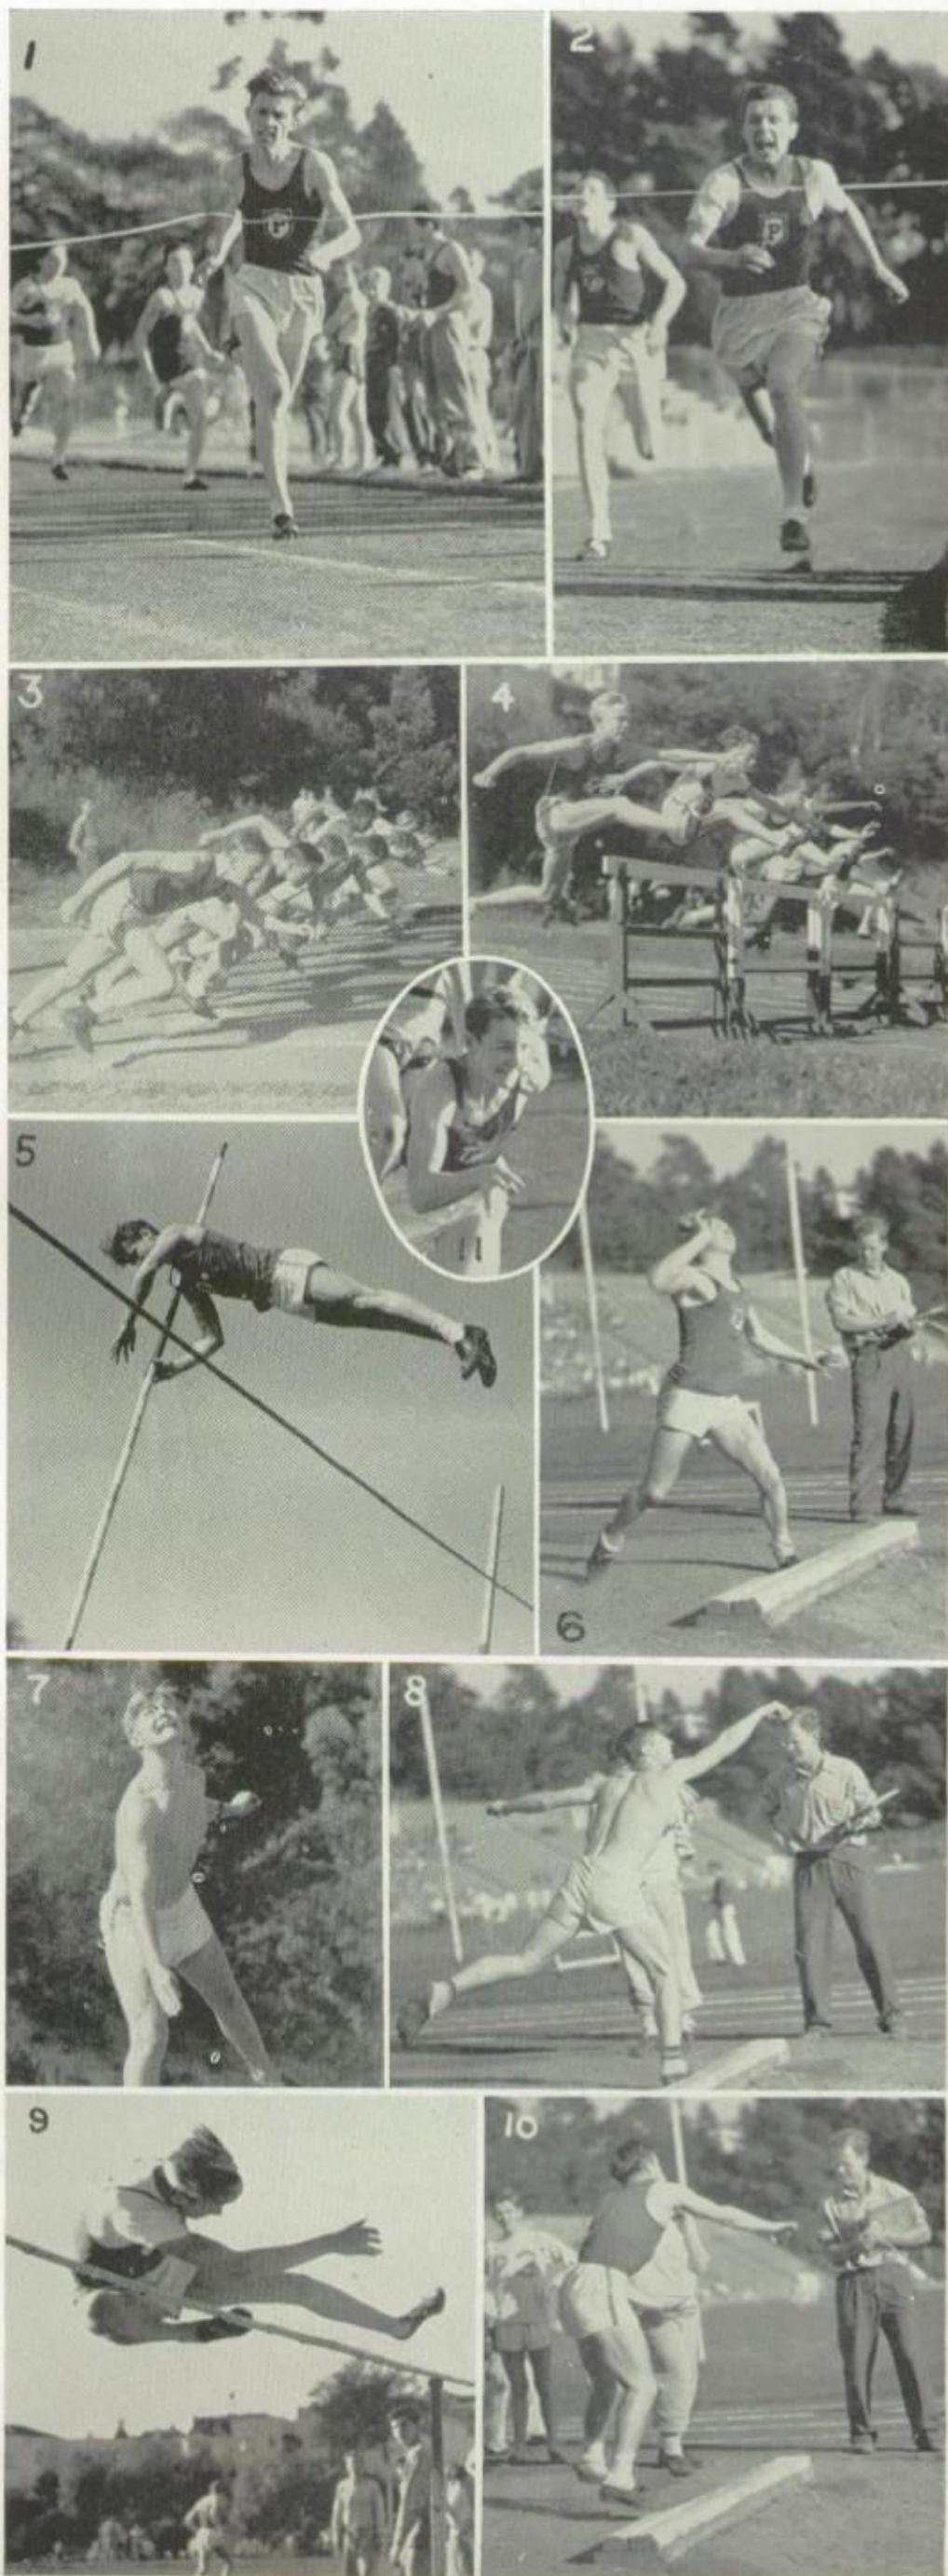

A.C.A.L. Meet

In one of the most thrilling A.C.A.L. meets on record Piedmont won its second league track championship in the history of the school. By placing a third in the relay, Piedmont edged Hayward out of first place by one point. Anderson opened the meet with a brilliant 2:02.7 half-mile. This performance set the spark that inspired the team on to victory. Agnew then placed third in the 100-yard dash; Joe Stuart and Charles Cords finished first and third in the hurdles, with Joe coming within one tenth of a second of the league record of 15.9. Berkuist and Atkinson finished second and third respectively in the 440; and Agnew came back in the 220 to be nosed out by Bryant of Berkeley, who won in the time of :23.1. In one of the most thrilling races of the day Johnson sprinted at top speed for the last 220 yards and edged out his rival in the mile. The time was 4:43.1.

Moore and Foster finished first and second in the pole vault. Moore set a new state record at 13 feet 5 1/4 inches. The crowd was held spellbound as the greatest high school pole vaulter in the country brushed off the bar at 13'10". Had he cleared this height, Moore would have held the world's record for high school vaulting. He should accomplish this feat in one of the two meets to come before the season ends. Stuart placed third in the 220 low hurdles and returned to join Haws, Atkinson, and Agnew in the relay. Moore and Wells finished third and fourth in the broad jump.

At the time of the printing of this book Piedmont looks forward to the North Coast and State track meets. We also look proudly back upon the most successful track season in the history of the school.

Girls' Athletic Association

Any girl who has earned thirty or more points by participating in after-school sports is entitled to membership in the Girls' Athletic Association or G.A.A. English P is open to all girls who have 400 points and a 1 or 2 in merit rating. With Miss Agnes Haroldson as adviser, these girls serve the school by taking charge of the order in assembly. In 1938 the Diamond P organization, under the supervision of Miss Clarisse Bois, was formed to serve as a stepping-stone to membership in English P and to unite all the girls who have 200 points.

Dance Festival

The dance classes combined their talent with that of the Glee Clubs to present the annual Dance Festival on May 2, 1941. The blessings of nature, the heritage of the West, the spirit of the country, and the tempo of the city were vividly portrayed by the girls of the school in their original dance compositions. Miss Agnes Haroldson and Miss Clarisse Bois were in charge of these dances which carried out the spirit of Americanism so emphasized today. Mrs. Lydia Bishop was the accompanist for the groups. The part played by the dance classes in "The Pursuit of Happiness" was as follows:
